

One thing saves. Only one faith is acceptable. Only one faith was taught by Paul as the gospel. That is faith in Christ's death for our sins, his physical burial, and literal resurrection for our eternal life. Christ's cross work is what saves. Is your faith in that?

"But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness." – Romans 4:5

Find more free resources at:
www.graceambassadors.com

One thing saves. Only one faith is acceptable. Only one faith was taught by Paul as the gospel. That is faith in Christ's death for our sins, his physical burial, and literal resurrection for our eternal life. Christ's cross work is what saves. Is your faith in that?

"But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness." – Romans 4:5

Find more free resources at:
www.graceambassadors.com

Faith In What?

Sometimes people ask, "is faith enough for salvation?", or, "do you have faith?"

...Faith in what?

There is nothing special about faith in itself. Every thinking man is a man of faith, but faith in what? Every false religion has men of faith, but faith in what? Every Bible ignorant churchgoer says they are people of faith, but faith in what?

Merely having faith is pointless, unless it is faith in the right thing. The right thing is always what God provides

Faith In What?

Sometimes people ask, "is faith enough for salvation?", or, "do you have faith?"

...Faith in what?

There is nothing special about faith in itself. Every thinking man is a man of faith, but faith in what? Every false religion has men of faith, but faith in what? Every Bible ignorant churchgoer says they are people of faith, but faith in what?

Merely having faith is pointless, unless it is faith in the right thing. The right thing is always what God provides as the object of faith.

God has provided a means to justify ungodly people without their good works.

If your faith squirms at this admission then your faith is entirely unacceptable to God, and you have no faith in the gospel that saves.

God can justify the ungodly who place their faith in the blood of Christ as paying for their sins and his resurrection as our justification.

When the Bible says to have faith, we must ask, "faith in what?"

Not all men in the Bible had faith in the same thing. Faith in a covenant, the law, the kingdom come, or even the name of the Son of God is not the content of the gospel today.

Without Christ's death and resurrection Christian faith is blind, impotent to save, foolish, and unacceptable to God.

This is why Paul places so much emphasis on the preaching of the cross as the object of your belief.

People believe miracles, and can be condemned when they die. People believe in angels, and good deeds, and karma, and will be guilty on judgment day. People have faith in humanity, good will, and charity and will not be saved, because they have rejected God's provision.

We are saved by trusting the gospel of our salvation, not by faith in feelings, churches, popes, religious systems, good works, hard work, church going, angels, miracles, or any of the millions of things people of faith believe.

The gospel of our salvation is the finished work of Christ on our behalf (Eph1:13).

as the object of faith.

God has provided a means to justify ungodly people without their good works.

If your faith squirms at this admission then your faith is entirely unacceptable to God, and you have no faith in the gospel that saves.

God can justify the ungodly who place their faith in the blood of Christ as paying for their sins and his resurrection as our justification.

When the Bible says to have faith, we must ask, "faith in what?"

Not all men in the Bible had faith in the same thing. Faith in a covenant, the law, the kingdom come, or even the name of the Son of God is not the content of the gospel today.

Without Christ's death and resurrection Christian faith is blind, impotent to save, foolish, and unacceptable to God.

This is why Paul places so much emphasis on the preaching of the cross as the object of your belief.

People believe miracles, and can be condemned when they die. People believe in angels, and good deeds, and karma, and will be guilty on judgment day. People have faith in humanity, good will, and charity and will not be saved, because they have rejected God's provision.

We are saved by trusting the gospel of our salvation, not by faith in feelings, churches, popes, religious systems, good works, hard work, church going, angels, miracles, or any of the millions of things people of faith believe.

The gospel of our salvation is the finished work of Christ on our behalf (Eph1:13).